

Your Health Records

We use the information we collect from and about you so we can provide you with the highest quality healthcare.

We have a legal duty to:

- Keep full and accurate records of your care
- Keep your records secure and confidential
- Provide information in a format that is accessible to you
- Only keep information for as long as necessary

By law we must submit an electronic form (HSA4) to notify the Chief Medical Officer of every abortion treatment. The HSA4 does not identify you by name, but will include your: BPAS reference number, date of birth, postcode, ethnicity, marital status, parity, treatment details, gestation and the legal grounds for the abortion.

We may share information with organisations which help us provide or pay for your care. When possible, we anonymise your details before sharing your information to ensure that you cannot be identified.

We won't share information that identifies you, unless:

- You ask us to do so, or we ask and you agree that we can
- We must by law
- It is in the public interest
- We have special permission for health or audit purposes
- It is needed to deliver medical services to you
